Note Luminance HDR Photo Studio requires Photoshop CS6 or later. You may want to check it out to see if it's useful, but after you buy it, it's going to be awfully difficult to find an alternative. ## The Layers Panel The layers panel is where all your edits go. Photoshop has a number of ways to create layers. Click the New Layer button at the bottom of the layers panel to summon the New Layer dialog box, shown in Figure 1-2. Figure 1-2. From the top, you can choose a specific layer to edit, adjust its Opacity setting, specify how you want to color it, apply a gradient, paint directly on the layer, fill it with a specific solid color, or apply a mask.

Freakonomics (film) Freakonomics is a 2015 American documentary film directed by Stephen J. Anderson and written by Steven Levitt and Stephen J. Dubner. The film premiered at the 2015 Sundance Film Festival and was released theatrically in North America on January 27, 2015. It follows the authors of the book Freakonomics: Why Some Things Are Too Scarce to be Free and explores how economists and sociologists use economic theories to view human behavior. The film was nominated for a Primetime Emmy Award for Outstanding Directing for a Documentary. Synopsis The film, which was created by the filmmakers and Steven Levitt, a senior fellow at the New York University Stern School of Business and one of the authors of Freakonomics, explores the economic theories used to view the behavior of humans. The film follows Levitt and Stephen Dubner, the other author of Freakonomics, as they try to understand how to apply economic theories to understand human behavior, such as the practice of buying lottery tickets. They also go to Argentina to try to understand why lottery tickets are selling extremely well in that country. The film also follows the economists and sociologists, including at least one Nobel Prize-winner, as they attempt to explore the economic reasoning behind the non-monetary factors that include not only the lottery ticket itself, but also the government of that country and its views on gambling. Cast Stephen J. Anderson Stephen J. Dubner Christine Becker Noam Dershowitz Peter C. Doherty Charles M. Eppig Gary Farr Bjorn Hultsjor R. Anand Kumar Philip Leonard Susan Jacoby Robert Merton A.C. Mello Richard Posner William Poundstone Awards and recognition In 2015, the film won the Emmy Award for Outstanding Directing for a Documentary.
